

Homework

For 11th October

Calculating angles

This week we have been looking at how to calculate missing angles along a straight line and around a point.

I would like you to have a go at section A, B and C questions on the sheet using what you have learnt this week.

Show your reasoning, explaining how you knew how to calculate the angles.

Some things to remember:

- Angles on a straight line add up to 180°
- Angles around a point add up to 360°
- Angles within a triangle add up to 180°
- Angles with a quadrilateral add up to 360°

Now have a go at section D

Can you come up with your own problems?

Comments

Date set: Friday 6th October 2016 Date of test: Friday 13th October 2017

My score today out of 10	Mr Board's Star Words: apparent community
The words I still need to learn I have circled below: symbol mystery lyrics oxygen symptom physical system typical crystal rhythm

The spelling pattern for this week is:

Words with 'y' making /ie/ phoneme

Spelling rule: In these words, the letter 'y' is acting as a vowel by making the short vowel sound /ie/

Common examples of words with this spelling pattern include:

occupy multiply rhyme hygiene hyphen

What words can you find with this spelling pattern? If you can find some over the week – come and write them on our Spelling Spot in the classroom for others to see and learn from.

Star words will be:

apparent

community

What can you do to help you remember how to spell these words?

Literacy

We have begun looking at mystery and suspense writing this week.

For your homework, I would like you to draw a spooky setting. It can be a house, room, town, woods, whatever you wish.

Write a paragraph describing your scene as if it were part of a story. It could be that your main character has entered your scene or it could be the setting for where your story begins.

Literacy

We have begun looking at mystery and suspense writing this week.

For your homework, I would like you to draw a spooky setting. It can be a house, room, town, woods, whatever you wish.

Write a paragraph describing your scene as if it were part of a story. It could be that your main character has entered your scene or it could be the setting for where your story begins.

